JOHN 3:1-16

SEPTEMBER 3rd

Here we are again, save the seniors from last year, at this wonderful place of study, knowledge, and wisdom; better known as school. This year I finally became a senior and no matter what anybody tells you, it really is not a different feeling from every other grade.

This year I hope everyone can become closer as friends and family and that the seniors of this year may graduate with honors. I hope that when a every child from kindergarten to grade eleven looks at me they will think, "Wow, I want to be like him." I hope every senior has that ambition. My advice would be that no matter what happens, you can get through it. God is always there, and your friends and family are there too. Always remember, you cannot have too many friends. You never know what type of person you will need when you are in need of comfort.
